INVITATION

Dear colleagues and research fellows,

We are pleased to invite you to the third session of the cycle of seminars organised in the framework of the French-Italian partnership for heritage science: “Human-centred approach for cultural heritage. Disciplines talking to each other” that will take place on January the 27th from 10:00 to 13:00.

You may attend the event in presence at the Salle Molière of the French Ministry of Culture (182, Rue Saint-Honoré, 75001, Paris, France) or online by clicking on this Teams link.

In case you plan to attend the meeting in presence, we invite you to join us at 9:30 when we will have time for a welcome coffee and to get ready for the seminar.

Please, be aware that the event will be held in English.

Event Registration

To ease the organisation of the seminar and confirm your participation, you need to register to the event by filling in the Google Form survey accessible through the following link: <https://forms.gle/tb1kXMuVgh8PDgV47>

You may find all above-mentioned information in the attached invitation (see above).

Joint Collaboration

The event is organised by the Istituto di Scienze del Patrimonio Culturale del Consiglio Nazionale delle Ricerche, the French ministry of Culture, the Fondation des Sciences du Patrimoine, the Institut Français Italia, and the French Embassy in Italy.

All institutions join their forces again to create the perfect environment for Cultural Heritage key experts to come together and share their innovative research and project ideas about our heritage legacy, human past and the green transition challenge.

The detailed agenda of the meeting will be communicated at a later time.

In case you have any further question or request, feel free to reach out to us at any moment.

Kindest regards,

Giuseppe Zoppo
